Join Anna Rose Bain OPA

as she discusses a notoriously confounding subject: how to paint blonde hair!

Pulling from her 15+ years of experience as a commissioned portrait artist, Anna is also a blonde herself and has painted numerous self-portraits each year in order to master this difficult topic. She will discuss her favorite colors, techniques, and tips about lighting and environmental factors for painting hair that isn't too yellow, too gray, or too green... but just right.

Inspired by her grandfather, Anna spent her free time as a child sketching from nature and poring over art books. She studied fine art at Hillsdale College from 2003-2007 and was the first student in the school's history to have a solo senior show. Prior to graduating, she spent the summer at the famed Florence Academy of Art where she studied figure painting.

After college, Anna continued her education by studying with several renowned artists including Judith Carducci, Clayton J. Beck, III, Nancy Guzik, and more.

Anna now resides in Arvada, CO with her husband Steve and their two children. She works full-time as a fine art oil painter and commissioned portrait artist. Her award-winning work can be found in numerous private and public collections around the world.
